

Flute, C

Date

1775-1800 ca.

Primary Maker

Jean Baptiste Martin

Description

Boxwood body in four sections. One brass key with rectangular flap mounted in a turned block, with spring attached to the wood. Animal horn ferrules, except for one brass ferrule on the foot which is a later replacement.

Attribution to Jean Baptiste Martin is based on the similarity of the maker's stamp (as faint as it is) to that of more clearly marked flageolets and a flute in collections in Washington, D. C., and in Amsterdam.

Dimensions

Overall length: 614 mm Embouchure hole: 10.9 mm x 8.9 mm Sounding length: 545.5 mm

